

All is well with the Lundy's, hope the same is true with your family as we embrace the new millennium. Nineteen Ninety-Nine was an exciting year here in Minnesota!

The 1st half of the year was dominated by construction on my Model Railroad. The Aspen Valley was one of the layouts on tour during the National Model Railroad Convention, which was in St. Paul this year. Dorothy was very gracious and understanding to allow hundreds of fellow model railroaders from all over the world into our home. The project turned into a real family affair with every one contributing some of their talents, handwork and especially understanding of Dad's project. Feel free to stop over or up for a ride through the Rockies.

Dorothy continues to stay very busy with her volunteer activities, growing things that are green and chasing Sara (our granddaughter) around the house most days. She has also embraced this year's Christmas season in a big way, decorating the house inside and out in a very festive decor, something old Saint Nick would be proud of. If you're over for the holidays see if you can find all her Santa's?

called "Surf".

Kristi is enjoying her sophomore year of high school very much and has recently obtained her permit to drive, yes drive. I don't know about you all but I'm not ready for her behind the wheel at this point in my life. She spends most of her free time on the phone with her friends (I'm sure talking about boys) and earning some extra cash at Domino's Pizza. Kristi is also playing mom to the newest member of our family a cute kitten

Kevin has taken up permanent residence in Breckenridge, Colorado moving into a house along with several of his snowboarding buds from Minnesota. In-between runs on the slopes he is attempting to redefine the business community of Breckenridge, most recently starting up a restaurant delivery service. Every thing in his world is "sick", from what they tell me that is a good thing!

Ken, Rachel and Sara moved into a larger place this year, but are still in Eagan. Ken is still making Mickey proud as a manager at the Disney store in Burnsville; Rachel is now a site director with the YMCA. Sara of course continues to grow and is becoming a woman in her own right at the ripe old age of two! Ken does a good job of keeping current photos of her on our web site <http://www.lundy.org/sara/>.

P.S. As one of my millennium resolutions, I will be working on updates for our Web Site to include a new look and feel and a genealogy section. I've been collaborating with Kathy on organizing our family tree and hope to post some of our research this spring. Please stop by some time and sign our guest book <http://www.lundy.org/>.
